United States Senator Wadsworth, member of Troop M cavalry, which he founded, was not certain to-day whether or not he would go to the front if his troop was called.

"I do not know: I cannot say at this time," he said. "The troop, however, is ready and eager to go."

The men of the Seventy-fourth and Sixty-fifth regiments, reported to be left out of the Governor's plans for mobilization, are much wroth over the report they are to stay home. Former officers of the regiments have written Gov. Whitman urging him to order the commands out, quoting recent high scores in rifle practice and general efficiency as arguments.
